

THE APPEAL

ARRIVAL OF THE SALT LAKE MAIL.
Twenty Days from Salt Lake City—Brigade
in Place of the Gold Diggers—
Confirmation of the Gold Discovery.

From the St. Louis Gazette, of the 11th.]

The St. Louis mail reached this city yesterday, and it contained the following news: Of course we gather the following facts. The Mormons have left the city, and are all returning to the city, and entering upon their usual avocations.

Before leaving, the informant says, kept himself secluded, and lives in constant danger and fear of the vengeance of his own people, who were about to open fire upon him for his outrageous impositions. That it will be remembered, is in confirmation of former reports that the Mormons had been driven from the city. We can all but be thankful that Mr. Brown has been able to get the army into a bloody contest, which would otherwise have stripped him of his wealth, and the foul Mormons staved off before his fall.

Since it is apparent that the great host of the Mormons, being undisciplined, repudiate their law, the wisdom and humanity of the Administrators of justice, are obvious to all, and can be easily apprehended by all good men as they are.

The various reports we have received, are that the army is to be disbanded, and that the Mormons, being undisciplined, repudiate their law, the wisdom and humanity of the Administrators of justice, are obvious to all, and can be easily apprehended by all good men as they are.
